May God

    bless and keep you always,

May your

    wishes all come true,

May you

    always do for others and others do for you,

May you

    build a ladder to the stars and climb on every road,

May you

    stay forever young.

May you

    grow to be righteous,

May you

    grow to be true,

May you

    always know the truth,

And have light shine in on you.

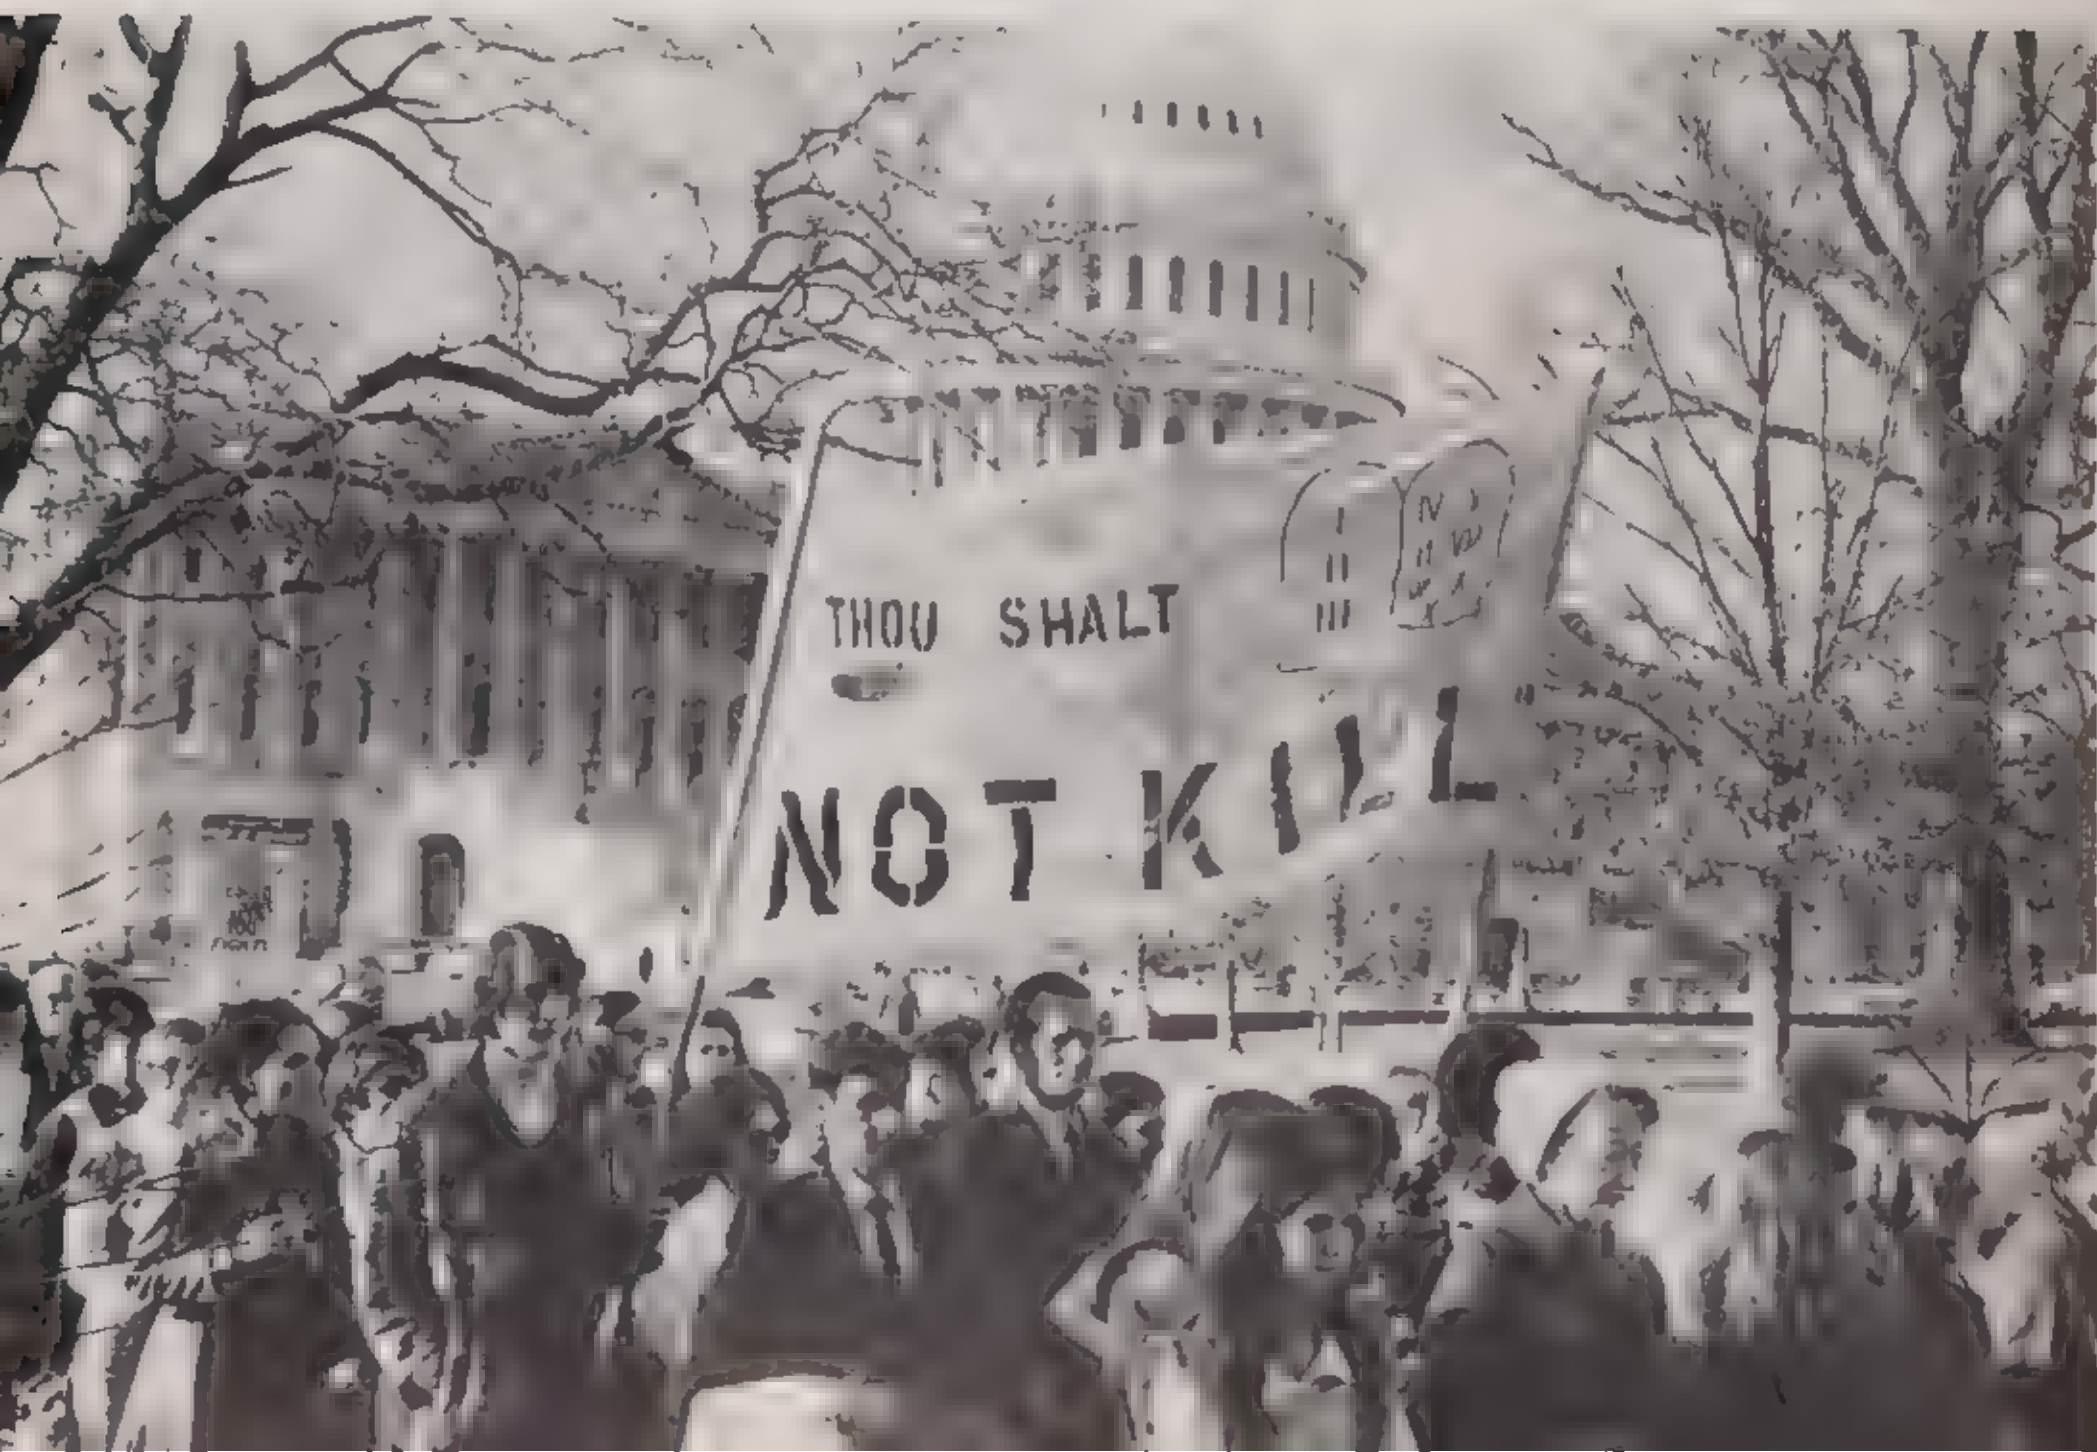

There are schools where dedications are merely assigned or given out with no regard for merit, or in ratio to any achievement. A principal or coach or dean may receive this honor thanks only to his title, rather than for displaying dynamic qualities and earning the respect and love of the students and faculty.

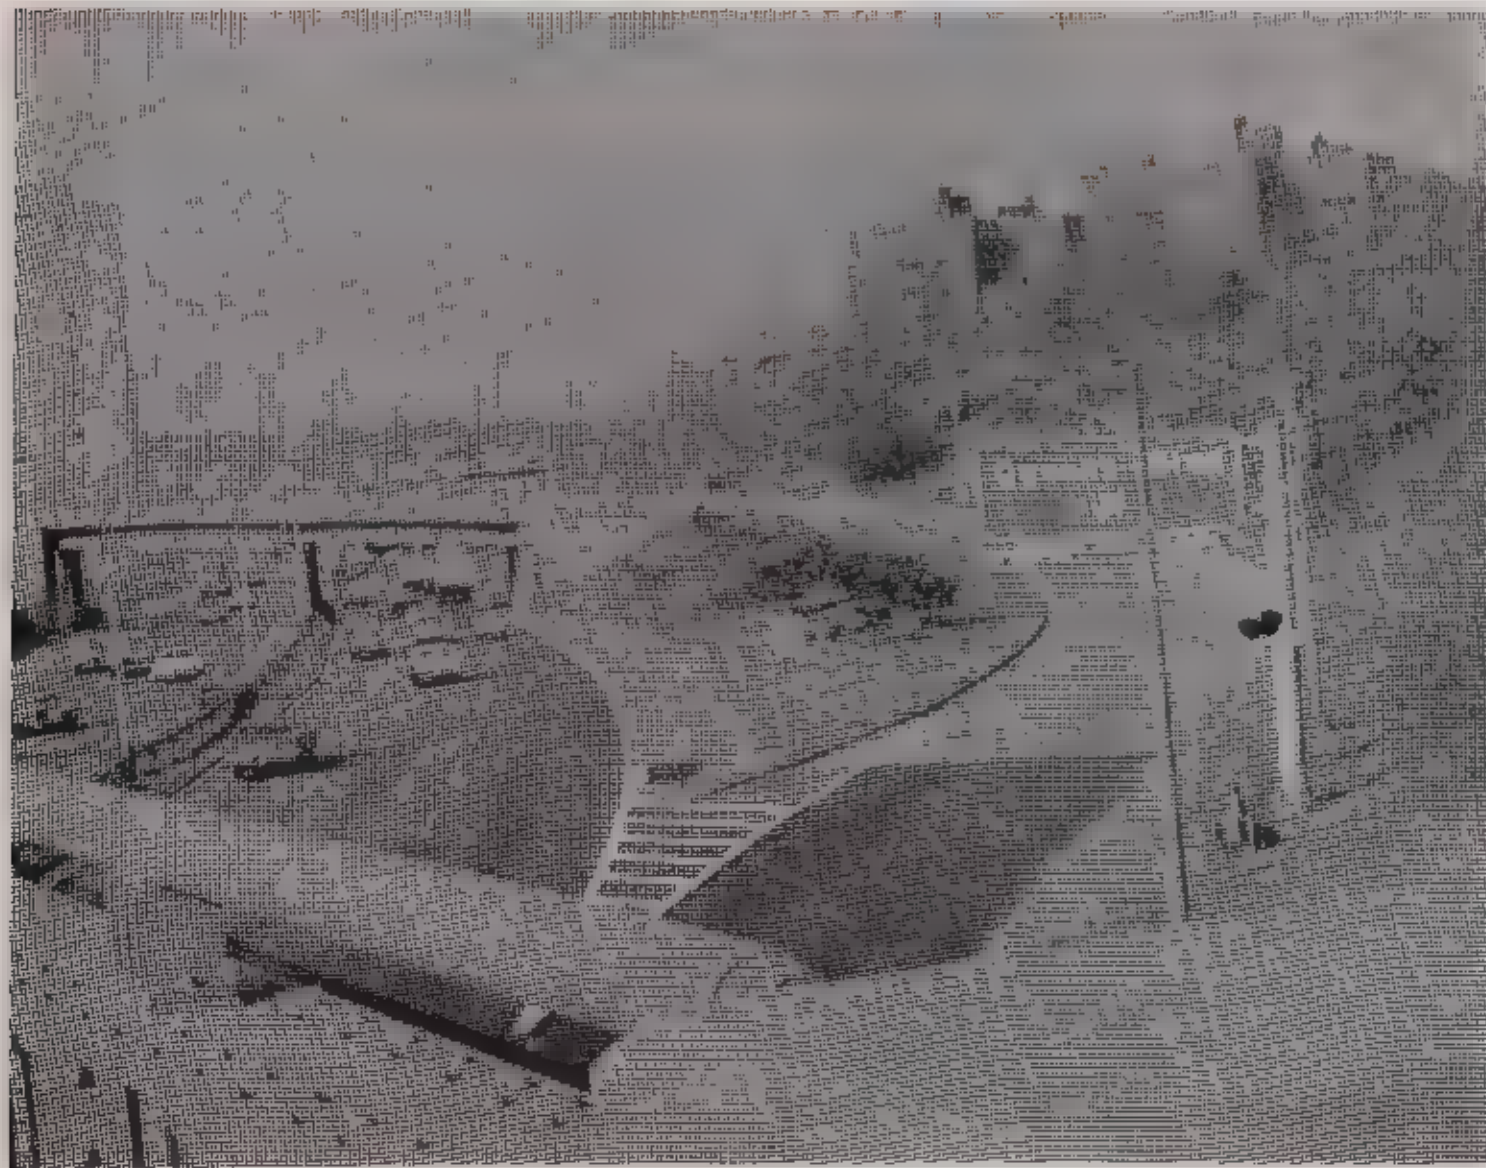

At Molloy, that has never been the case. Here, dedications are earned, and hopefully cherished. They are a way of returning in some small measure the hours, the energy and all the other ingredients and commitments that have molded our lives through out the past four years.

This year, the Class of 1974 dedicates its yearbook to Brother Angus. Throughout his years at Molloy he has been more than a teacher, an athletic director or a principal. More than painting banners to show us the way, encourage us and congratulate us, he has come to be a friend who laughs with us and guides us. He has earned this dedication by his dedication to us.

THE POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

Moderator:
Mr. John V. Diorio

President:
John Sabini

The Political Science Club has grown in the past four years from a small group of politically interested students to a very large group of politically active students. The club has been able to achieve a great many of its goals: the most important of which was to make the entire student body more aware of the political issues and leaders of the day. It has done this by bringing in both interesting and controversial guest speakers including Allard Lowenstein, Howard Samuels, Ralph Caso, and Ogden Reid to name a few.

The values and insights gained by such programs are of a permanent nature. First, the students are exposed to actual elected officials. Second, they observe the caliber and character necessary and needed to serve in public office. Third, they can speak to these people, question them, and offer comments and insights. Lastly, it serves as a background in the political areas for forming future opinions and positions in local and world matters based on knowledge not ignorance. All of these factors can only increase the number of young people becoming involved in politics to better serve the public and themselves.

Looking for a way to say
The things I think about day by day
Listen to their meanings if you can
I may step outside myself
And speak as if I were someone else
That's one way I know you'll understand

In fantasy I can be black or white; a woman or a man

My parents, my friends, my thanks...
May we truly be "forever young".

Now that I've expressed my soul
I'll step back into my real-life role
And hope I've brought you back across the line
You may think there's nothing you can do
To change what's all too true
But all you have to do is use your mind.

In fantasy you can be anything you want to be
And someday our reality will be as good as never never land.

-Brian Adams, 1974

First, I want to express my thanks to Matt Schiller for his time, work and patience in putting up with me like he did; and also to Brian Adams for making this all possible and for being a friend through it all.

I also want to say thanks to all my other friends and my family for listening to my complaints and for giving me many ideas used throughout the book.

Cooperation has been the biggest factor in the Year-book's successes and failures. So, to everyone else who contributed and cooperated, I say thanks.

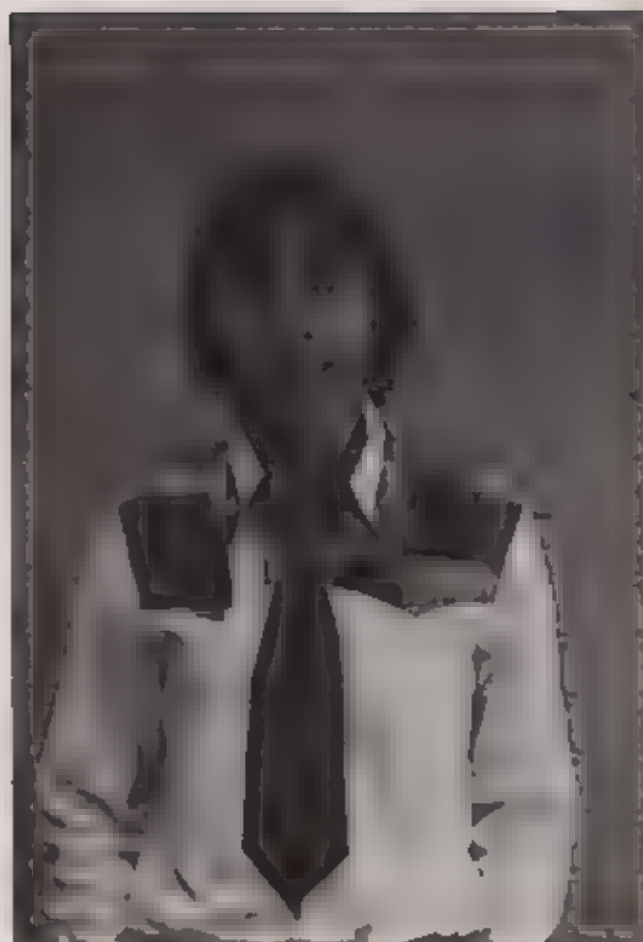

Finally, to the photographers and the staff, all of whom worked hard and long, Thank You.

I will be sorry to leave Molloy, but I have learned a lot and always will be thankful that I came here.

My final words of thanks go to Brother Angus, the rest of the administration, and all the members of the faculty and staff, who made my four years at Molloy a great experience for my life ahead.

Thus we have learned to live.
While mortal men stand waiting to die,
How can we do what must be done in,
Just one short life.
And if I ask you, then you must know.
If you still doubt, you should be told.
It was not we that made it so,
It was by those who went before.
And there you sit, Tomorrow's Child,
So full of love, so full of life,
But you must rise to meet the day.

-Ken Dale
